Heard Man Friend Had Killed Himself So She Took Her Own Life.

Oshkosh, Wis., Jan. 25.—It is believed that despondency over the announcement of the death of a friend was the cause of suicide of Mrs. Warren Nichols. She took carbolic acid and drank two ounces of the poison at her home where she was found by her husband when he returned home from work last night. She was in a semi-conscious condition but efforts to save her life were of no avail. Mr. Nichols says she left no note nor had never intimated that she would take her life. In all of which he has distinguished himself in his career. For many years treasurer of the National Republican committee and one of the most prominent counselors of the party. Mr. Bliss is a conspicuous example of that early among politicians, a man who is not an office seeker. The preference of Mr. Bliss for the republican presidential nomination has not been made known. # ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETE FOR VANDERBILT WEDDING

Two Hundred Invitations Have Been Issued For The Vanderbilt-Szechenyi Wedding.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, Jan. 25.—Arrangements for the marriage of Miss Gladys Vanderbilt and Count Ladislas Szechenyi were completed today. The ceremony will be performed Monday noon at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, corner of Fifth avenue and Fifty-eighth street. Simplicity has been aimed at in the arrangements, but it will be a gorgeous simplicity. It was expected at first that the wedding would be a very quiet affair. It was said that only a few invitations would be issued, but as the date approached these plans were changed and the number of invitations was fixed at 200.

All this week mechanics and decorators, milliners and seamstresses, caterers and chefs have been hard at work preparing for the wedding. The sumptuous brownstone home of the Vanderbilts, for many years one of the show places of Fifth avenue, has passed through an internal transformation, and has left the hands of the painters, decorators and upholsterers more beautiful than ever.

Floral Decorations to be Magnificent.
The ceremony will take place in the ballroom. It will be followed by a seated breakfast, which will be served in the dining room, the foyer hall and in the breakfast room. The floral decorations will be unique, as to scheme and color. Pink tints will predominate. Palms will be largely used in the decorations of the hall and will be so grouped in banks of erysanthemums as to form a sort of garden. The marble trellis work of the grand staircase will be draped with ferns, banked with pink and yellow erysanthemums and edged with rows of deeper pink. The mantel columns, doorjambs and wainscoting will be banked with pink and white flowers. The dining room also will be decorated entirely in pink and white. The bride's table will be banked throughout its entire length with lilacs of the valley and white orchids. In the drawing-room and other rooms vases filled with rare cut flowers will be placed on the mantels and on brackets, which will be banked with pink and white erysanthemums.

Mgr. Lavelle to Officiate.
There will be no civil ceremony and no Protestant service. There will be a religious ceremony after the one conducted by Monsignor M. J. Lavelle, rector of St. Patrick's Cathedral, according to the dispensation granted by Archbishop Farley. The bridal party will be larger than was at first planned, and Miss Vanderbilt will enter the ballroom with her brother, Alfred G. Vanderbilt. She will be preceded by her bridesmaids, Miss Ruth V. Twombly and Miss Dorothy Whitney, and Miss Flora Whitney, her niece, who is to be the flower girl. At the temporary altar that is to be placed at one end of the ballroom, Count Szechenyi and the best man, Count Anton Sgarry, will await the bride. At the close of the brief ceremony, Frank's Orchestra will play Mendelssohn's wedding march. Immediately afterward congratulations will be in order, and the wedding breakfast will be served. During the serving of the breakfast there will be a miscellaneous orchestral concert under the direction of Nathan Franko. The program will include many American and Hungarian airs in compliment to both the bride and the bridegroom.

WARNS AGAINST THE SEVEN MILES IN AN EVEN FOUR MINUTES

State Fire Marshal Has Issued Warning to the Public and Managers of Moving Picture Machines.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Jan. 25.—State Fire Marshal T. M. Purcell has issued a warning to the public and to managers of theaters and halls of amusement, directing attention to the great danger of fire arising from the multiplicity of moving picture machines now in operation.

"During the past few years the use of moving picture machines has become so common, either as additional attraction in opera and show houses, but as the sole attraction in some of the small places that it seems wise at this time to give them some notice, both as to their construction and use and the possibility of danger from explosion and fire, which has resulted in many cases in the destruction of property and in some cases the loss of life. Instructions have been sent out broadcast as to the construction of booths for the picture machines and the need of seeing that these methods are complied with, yet, you can easily find today any number of them which are built without any precaution whatever and are easily inflammable material. This in connection with the fact that almost all are placed in the front of the building, close to the only means of exit renders the hazard only so much greater. Specifications for fire proof booths are easily obtained along these lines. The frame should be of angle iron; the sheathing shall be of either galvanized iron or of not less than No. 20 B. W. gauge or of 1/4-inch hard asbestos board securely riveted or bolted to the iron frame. Floor and ceiling should be of same material. All openings in the booth should be arranged either with an automatic contrivance which is held open by the operator's foot or by fusible links, so placed as to be easily melted so that in case of accident they will close. The wiring should be done according to the approved code and all extra films should be kept in metal boxes with tight fitting covers. If these precautions are taken the fire can easily be confined within the booth."

AT THE PLAY HOUSES

WILLIAM JEFFERSON, WHO WILL APPEAR HERE WITH HIS BROTHER JOSEPH IN "THE RIVALS"

The talents of the late Joseph Jefferson were certainly not confined to acting alone. He was a painter of distinction. Many of his canvases now grace the walls of our foremost art galleries. Nearly all of the theatrical and historical clubs throughout the country proudly boast of possessing one of Joseph Jefferson's paintings. He was also an author of considerable note. His most pretentious literary offering is his own autobiography. The entire book is replete with wit and humor and fascinating reminiscences. He wrote countless articles for the magazines. All of his writings give indications that he had been a distinguished author as he has been an actor.

The original manuscript of "The Rivals" was written long before modern production. Mr. Jefferson re-created the play. The snappy and brilliant manuscript as now used by his sons, Joseph and William, Jefferson, for their performances of this play, is the finished product of the play in its original form. The play in its original form prompted Mr. Jefferson to write an epitaph. His master hand at literary construction is apparent in every line. "The Rivals" now can boast of the following graceful and beautiful ending.—thanks to Mr. Jefferson.

Mr. Lachmeyer (Joseph Jefferson)—A foolish gentleman, if he be who, will ever be his fault or wisdom. And if we've failed to charm this cultured garden.

It only now remains to ask your pardon.

Captain Absolute (Leopold Lane)—And as we're rivals here in Cypri's cause.

Lydia Langrish (Blanche Bender)—We will be rivals only now for your applause.

Mr. Anthony (Theodore Hamilton)—To unrequited fathers I appeal, and urge forbearance in parental zeal. To check your son, a gentle word is ample.

And so, by millions, follow my example.

Mrs. Malaprop (Loretta Wells)—If I've succeeded with my incantations.

I humbly crave your kindly congratulations.

Mr. Lachmeyer (Joseph Jefferson)—Kindly congratulations! Did you ever hear the like?

Mrs. Malaprop (Loretta Wells)—Mr. Lachmeyer, you're a barbarous Yankee.

Bob Acres (William W. Jefferson)—For my vain errors let me say a word, And quote a maxim you have often heard.

That he who fights and runs away, Will live to fight another day. Odds! then—our courage we'll renew, And fight again if seconded by you.

Stokers Way Down

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

An exchange has the following on good resolutions from the diary of the eccentric old Dr. Johnson.

"1760. Resolved. To rise as early as I can."

"1761. My purpose is, To regulate my sleep."

"1762. My purpose is from this time, To rise early."

"1763. (September). I resolve. To rise early; not later than six, if I can. I hope sooner, but as soon as I can."

"1764. My resolution, I purpose to rise at eight, because, though I shall not yet rise early, it will be much earlier than I now rise, for I often lie till two."

"1765. I purpose and hope to rise early in the morning, at eight, and by degrees at six."

"1766. I hope to rise at eight."

Evidently no lack of good resolutions; yet only a few years before his death he found him writing:

"I have now upon a about fifty-five years in resolving; having from the earliest time almost that I can remember, been forming schemes of a better life. I have done nothing."

My life, from my earliest years, been wasted in a morning bed."

The most of these good resolutions were made at the commencement of a new year, and the singleness of purpose expressed, indicates that the doctors' besetting sin was his love for a morning nap, not a very grievous transgression, nor one that worried very many people, for the worst of life regulates habits of rest in large degree.

"The early suburban trains, running into my large city, are crowded with workmen who breakfast at 5:30 and retire at 9 o'clock in the evening, with monotonous regularity."

"The 11,000,000 people engaged in agricultural pursuits, in the country, practice similar habits, and consider them no hardship. The Irishman, who was called to a five o'clock breakfast, his first morning on the farm, said 'he looked to live in a country where they get up in the night to eat.'"

An old farmer, who came to town to live, found it impossible to sleep after four in the morning, and his wife was troubled with the same sort of insomnia.

A guest from the city was surprised and amused when told on retiring late breakfast. He was on hand for him he would be called at six to a late breakfast. He was on hand for the early meal with the household, and fought sleep the balance of the day, glad to retire at dark.

These two classes of toilers, representing a majority of the people live in a world apart from the business and professional realm, where the active work day commences at 9 in the morning, and closes at any time after three in the afternoon.

The regular patrons of the limited trains running between Chicago and New York are hard of Trade men, who transact business at one terminal today and the other tomorrow.

The trains leave either city at the close of business, late in the afternoon, and arrive at destinations in time for business the next morning.

Every night is spent on the sleeper, but the hour for retiring is along towards midnight, while an 8 o'clock breakfast on the train is early enough for the day's work.

The patrons of incoming trains, from 8 to 10 in the morning, are men who work with brain and mind, 4 or 8 hours a day, and frequently go home more weary than the larger class who devote less time to thought, and more to muscular work because when they turned the office key, they were unable to leave, on the other side of the door, the cares and responsibilities which refuse to be regulated by a government or labor union 8-hour day.

The question of when to go to bed and when to get up, regulates itself very largely by the nature of employment, in which people are engaged, and there are no hard and fast rules which govern.

If old Dr. Johnson was unable to discover nothing more important to reform, he had attained perfection in larger degree than the average mortal.

But what about these new year's resolutions in these piping times of reform, when men are turning from their evil ways, whether they will or no?

It is always easy to drift, with the tide and there is more negative goodness about just now, than at anytime in history. Even the brewers and distillers have caught the infection, and vie with each other in denouncing intemperance, and demanding regressive laws.

The tide of morality is running strong today, so strong indeed that an old line democrat said the other day that he thought he would vote the prohibition ticket. This was soft or he had made a new year's resolution with a proviso, that if Bryan was nominated.

The water wagon is the most popular vehicle on the road today, and people are so anxious to get abroad, that a general scramble has resulted.

Good resolutions for the year, seem to have centered in a demand for extermination or regulation of the liquor traffic. It is a good proposition for concentration of effort, and results will be wholesome.

But "the little foxes destroy the vines," and so in this great moral uplift, in which everybody is so busily engaged, it is easy to overlook minor depredations. Old Dr. Johnson resolved to reform a little habit, and failed, and his experience is common to the average mortal.

The happiness of the home, as well as the happiness of the individual, is influenced very largely by resolutions which have to do with little things of life.

The man who reels home at night, in drunken frolic, to abuse his family, is the exception, and not the rule, but the man whose presence fails to bring joy to the household, is of more common type.

The wife and mother who proves recalcitrant to the sacred trust committed to her keeping, may be found here and there, but there are plenty of homes where the care seems a burden, and its monotonous round of homely duties an irksome task.

Business is so absorbing, and club and society life so fascinating, that the home sometimes becomes a convenience, rather than the paradise for which it was intended.

From these unaccountable surroundings, the boy and girl drift out at early age to find companionship and association which are not always helpful, and before the age of maturity is reached, the home has lost its hold and influence.

The revolution which has been going on for the past few years has been helpful in some ways and harmful in others. While the standard of business morality has been raised, and the public conscience quickened, the standard of the home has not shared in the general uplift.

There was a time, and not so long ago, when the church of the fathers, without regard to creed, became the church of the children, and the influence of the church and home was so closely interwoven that child life was guarded and safely environment through the critical years of development.

A time when the sacredness of the Sabbath was recognized, and when the blue laws of New England, in modified form, were generally adopted.

Today these laws are ridiculed or ignored, and the average church audience is largely composed of elderly or middle-aged people. Where are the children? Not in the church, and seldom in the home except long enough to eat and sleep.

The notion seems to prevail, and is tacitly admitted, that the boy and girl must sow their wild oats, and after training with the devil for a while, be won back to the kingdom by Billy Sunday or some other specialist.

This may sound like pessimistic doctrine, but the fact is apparent to any observer, that Protestantism in many sections of the country is weaker in some ways than it was 25 years ago.

Thousands of weak churches struggle for meagre existence, with many pulpits unoccupied, because young men refuse to enter the field of the ministry.

These conditions exist because the home is no longer the nursery of the church, except in name.

Talk to the average young man, outside the church, and you find that he has no settled convictions on any of the great principles of Christianity. He prides himself on being a free thinker, which usually means no thinker.

There are some customs which time has not improved, and some old-time notions and practices, which should never have been abandoned.

When everything else is reformed it may be found that the home needs attention, and some homely resolutions, like old Dr. Johnson's, will be generally adopted for the good of the new generation, waiting at the threshold for admission.

CANNON IS SCORED AS BOLD AUTOCRAT

MR. SHACKLEFORD OF MISSOURI ATTACKS ONE-MAN POWER.

URGES HOUSE TO REVOLT

Speaker Listens and Laughs—Hitchcock of Nebraska Makes a Plea for Bryan for President.

Washington, Jan. 25.—An attack on the power of the speaker was made in the house of representatives Friday by Mr. Shackelford of Missouri, during the consideration of the urgent deficiency appropriation bill.

He said Speaker Cannon was "the ablest, boldest champion of autocracy this age has produced," and declared that the speaker exercised "a greater despotism than exists in any monarchy in Europe."

Speaker Cannon at this juncture entered the chamber and, amid applause, took a seat in front of Mr. Shackelford, who asserted that before any bill could pass "you must bend your noble bodies forward in proper pose, fold your hands and say: 'Oh, Lord Uncle Joe, thy will be done and not mine.'"

Cannon Only Laughs.

He challenged Speaker Cannon "to rise in his place, not as speaker, but a member of the Illinois delegation, and tell us how and when it was he shouldered the responsibility for the legislation that was to be here enacted by simply becoming moderator of this deliberative assembly."

Speaker Cannon laughed.

Mr. Shackelford protested against the policy of "one man power as in violation of the law," and urged the members "to break down this autocracy and the rules in order that the people's representatives may do the things they want done."

Hitchcock Defends Bryan.

a political speech, in the course of which he attacked certain statistics of Gen. C. H. Grosvenor of Ohio regarding the political outlook. His remarks were devoted mainly to a plea for William J. Bryan for president. He spoke of the candidacy of Judge Parker and declared that it was not a case in which his personal strength was put to a test. "His weakness was," he said, "the weakness of the reactionary—the weakness of the general who was leading toward the rear and not towards the front."

In order to hurt Mr. Bryan his enemies had used letters written before Judge Parker's nomination, said Mr. Hitchcock, but no one pretended that Mr. Bryan had not loyally supported Judge Parker.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 25.—Reports received from the lumber camps of Minnesota and northern Wisconsin indicate that little timber has been cut for a week and that everything is waiting for cold weather. ## JOSIE MALONE'S BODY IN RIVER

FOUND BY BROTHER AND JAMES SENNETT AT 11:30 A. M. TODAY.

BELOW COURT ST. BRIDGE

And Resting on River-bed Within Eight Feet of the West Shoreline—No Indications of Foul Play.

Within eight feet of the west shore, where the sluggish waters of the river eddy about a little above the Court street bridge, the body of the late Miss Josephine Malone was discovered at half past eleven o'clock this morning.

It was lying on the riverbed about two feet and a half below the surface and would have been plainly discernible from the shore had it not been for a narrow border of thin ice extending from the P. A. Taylor comb shed, a few yards to the northward, to a point some little distance down the river. A portion of this ice formation was broken up by small boys this forenoon so that the street commissioner, Jas. Sennett, and Frank Malone, who mopped one of the boats, were able to get in there and reach the body with their grapplinghooks. Fred Connors, Pat O'Gar, Jack Aldrich, Sheriff Fisher, and others assisted in getting it ashore.

The dead woman wore a heavy jacket of black and a skirt of some blue material resembling satin. Her hat was missing and likewise the gloves from her left hand, disclosing two rings, one of them jeweled, on the third finger. Half removed, also, was the black knit glove which she had worn on her right hand. The body was in an excellent state of preservation. The low temperature of the water had prevented decomposition and it is probable that it would not have come to the surface until spring. The body lay with the head toward the shore. Eyes were closed and there were traces of froth at the mouth. In a pocket of the undershirt was found a pocketbook containing a five dollar bill, some silver, a string of beads, receipts, milk checks, and trinkets.

No Marks of Violence
In a superficial examination of the body at Ryan's undertaking rooms, Dr. James Gibson could discover no evidence of violence—nothing to indicate that drowning was not the first and only cause of the woman's death. District Attorney J. L. Fisher was very anxious that a thorough examination be made and the investigation was resumed this afternoon by Dr. Gibson and Dr. J. W. St. John, who was in the country at the time the call was sent for him and who did not arrive on the scene until after two o'clock.

Friends' Scout Suicide Theory
While it is admitted that Miss Malone had her peculiarities and eccentricities, those who knew her intimately insist that she never surrendered herself to feelings of melancholy or despondency. It was her disposition, so they say, to discuss her troubles openly and frankly with her friends and never lose a moment's sleep on their account. She was a devoted member of St. Mary's Catholic church and Rev. Fr. W. A. Goebl is one of those who declare that she would not and could not have taken her own life.

Muff Found Last Night
Frank Malone, a brother, arrived here from the upriver farm shortly after four o'clock last evening. At once commenced an investigation and towards midnight, at a point near the waterworks pumping station, and frozen in the ice about six feet from the shore, found the black astrakhan muff which the unfortunate woman had carried. The muff had formerly been the property of Miss Malone's mother and was immediately identified. The search with boats was commenced at an early hour this morning. City Marshal Appleby and Officer Brown mopping one of the craft, and Deputy Sheriff Fred Gibson of Evansville and Leo Fisher, son of the sheriff, another.

Unconfirmed Reports
In support of the theory of foul play there are rumors of the possible presence and activity hereabouts of a former inmate of an insane asylum who was released on the supposition that he was mentally sound but is believed to have again lost his reason. Then there is the story that Miss Malone was recently accosted on the Court street bridge by an unknown individual and after making her escape warned the young women in her employ never to pass that way without an escort after dark. Neither of these vague rumors are known to have any substantial foundation. On the other hand, if she ever made the chance remark that "the Court street bridge was a handy place for one to commit suicide," which has been attributed to her, friends insist that no more significance should be attached to it than to the careless comment in the same vein passed by scores of other people. Nor is any great weight given to the supposed fact that she was not on the boat of terms with some of her near relatives.

Surviving Members of Family
The deceased was fifty-one years of age and moved here from the town of Janesville to open a dressmaking establishment in the Hayes block, several years ago. Subsequently she removed to the Knottworth place on South Main street. She left the home of Michael Hayes at 9:30 Wednesday evening and there is no record of anyone having seen her alive since that time. Four brothers and one sister survive her. They are: Eugene Malone of Columbus, Nebraska; John Malone of Minden, Neb.; Frank Malone of the town of Janesville; William Malone of this city; and Mrs. Minnie Perkins of New York City.

Physicians Conclude Inquiry
Dr. J. W. St. John and Dr. James Gibson concluded a careful examination of the body shortly after three o'clock this afternoon. They found the skull intact and not a single mark or bruise which would point to any other end than death by drowning. In view of these findings it is quite certain that District Attorney Fisher will not call any inquest. As the searchers learned when they tried to get the body ashore this morning, the

COMMERCIAL BANKING

An English financial authority says that "Nothing is easier to conduct than the business of a banker if he will only learn the difference between a mortgage and a bill of exchange." A bill of exchange means to the Englishman what we call commercial paper.

This bank does a strictly commercial business and its assets are almost entirely commercial paper, that is short time notes easily converted into cash or its equivalent. The wisdom of this policy for a commercial bank was shown by our ability recently to convert quickly into cash assets our outstanding loans, increasing our resources in a short period from 30% to 55% of deposits.

ATLANTIC COAST IS STORM SWEEP

PIERCE GALES AND INTENSELY COLD WEATHER PREVAIL.

MANY VESSELS IN PERIL

Schooner, Fortuna Driven Aground—Streets of Seabright, N. J., Flooded—New York Buried Deep in Snow.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 25.—The north-west storm sweeping the Virginia and North Carolina coast continued Friday night with unabated fury. Scores of vessels are at the mercy of the gale, shipping has been interrupted and the cold has intensified the dangers of navigation. The wind is 50 miles an hour at Cape Henry and 65 miles off Hatteras.

The steamer Jamestown of the Old Dominion Steamship company, en route from New York for Norfolk, was reported by the wireless station at the navy yard 50 miles off the Virginia capes, unable to stem the storm and put her nose into the capes. The vessel was being slowly driven seaward. So rough was the trip down the bay from Washington and Baltimore Friday that passengers left their berths and remained in the main saloons, wearing life preservers.

The Berkeley ferry steamer Winthrop became unmanageable with a large number of passengers aboard and was driven into a nearby wharf, where she was so tightly wedged that tugs had to assist in her extrication.

Schooner Fortuna Aground.—Hull, Mass., Jan. 25.—In the northeast gale and snowstorm Friday the three-masted schooner Fortuna of New London, Conn., Capt. Leighton, bound light from Newburyport for Boston, went ashore on Lovells island. The members of her crew and Capt. Leighton's wife, who was on board, landed safely on the island. The vessel is apparently lying in an easy position.

Great Damage on Jersey Coast. Asbury Park, N. J., Jan. 25.—Thousands of dollars' worth of property was damaged along the Jersey coast from Long Branch north to the Highlands by the storm Friday.

The seas broke over the bulkheads which protect the narrow strip of land lying between the ocean and the Shrewsbury river, flooded the streets of Seabright so that it resembled a miniature Venice, and caused general damage to cottages, piers, pavilions and roadways. Mayor Packer of Seabright directed the occupants of many houses to leave and retire across the river, where the ground is higher. The people were taken from their homes in boats. The entire railroad between Seabright and Highlands is under water and traffic is at a complete standstill.

A train on the Central Railroad of New Jersey, which left Long Branch early Friday with the train crew and three passengers, was stalled at Ludlows Crossing all day by the waves, which beat about the engine and cars and threatened to wash away the tracks under them. When the tide receded the train crept back to Long Branch. It is estimated that the damage in Seabright and vicinity will reach nearly $100,000.

Severe Blizzard at Newport. Newport, R. I., Jan. 25.—With the wind blowing 65 and 70 miles an hour, a heavy fall of snow and the temperature continually dropping, Newport early Friday was the first real blizzard of the winter Friday. At night the conditions grew worse rather than better. The wind, which had blown from the northeast, changed to north-west about sunset, at the same time increasing in violence. Between 2 and 3 feet of snow had fallen and the temperature had dropped to 15 degrees above zero.

There was a heavy sea running and all shipping was practically tied up. Three barges dragged their anchors and went ashore on Brenton's beach during the day, but as they were light they are thought to have sustained little damage. Steam trains were delayed and trolley lines were tied up by the storm.

Heavy Snow in New York. New York, Jan. 25.—New York is digging itself out of a foot of snow so unevenly divided that while exposed and unfrequented spots like Conny island have been blown bare the thoroughfares of the millions are left piled high with drifts that impede the progress of man and beast, and in the more open sections have tied up street cars and vehicular traffic.

Much suffering has been occasioned, there has been the usual toll of deaths exacted, and the monetary damage must be reckoned by the tens of thousands of dollars. Mercifully, the snow was accompanied by moderate temperature and in its early stages it was welcomed by the honest part of the 35,000 unemployed men in the city. All who sought employment from last midnight on found it readily and at good wages.

Four Deaths Due to Storm. A number of accidents and four fatalities were credited to the storm's account. One man was frozen to death near an East Twenty-third street lodging house, from which he had been ejected. A Grand street merchant succumbed to heart disease after battling with the snow and wind. In Woodlawn cemetery a special policeman died while digging a path to a newly-made grave. A civil war veteran was another victim of heart disease caused by exposure.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

IS PRAISED BY

PAULA A. EDWARDES

Paula A. Edwardes, the well-known theatrical star, writes as follows:

"I am charmed with Newbro's Herpicide. It is a refreshing hair remedy, producing a beautiful luster and a luxuriance of growth; at the same time keeping the scalp free from dandruff."

(Signed) PAULA A. EDWARDES.

New York City.

Good results from the use of Newbro's Herpicide mean as much to one person as to another, but on the other hand, the fact that leading theatrical stars prefer Newbro's Herpicide is an important point in its favor. Professional people have an inclination and an opportunity—not enjoyed by others—to discriminate in their choice of toilet remedies, and their opinions should not go unheeded.

The extraordinary success of Newbro's Herpicide is due to the simple fact that it kills the dandruff germ. While other remedies treat the disease that results in hair loss, Newbro's Herpicide destroys the cause of the disease, after which nature grows the hair, if it is not too late.

Chronic baldness cannot be cured, but before the hair follicles are too badly diseased, one can, by careful treatment and intelligent sanitary care, keep down and ultimately destroy the tiny vegetable growth, (dandruff germ) whose continued presence in the sebaceous glands of the scalp means hair destruction.

Ladies become enthusiastic over Newbro's Herpicide, because it brightens up the hair and keeps it light and fluffy. Stops itching of scalp almost instantly.

Guaranteed under the Food and Drug Act June 30, 1906. Serial No. 915. Two Sizes, 50c and $1.00 at drug stores. Insist upon Herpicide. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Dept. L, Detroit, Mich.

GOOD WORK.

Done Daily in Janesville. Many Citizens Tell of It.

Nearly every reader has heard of Don's Kidney Pills. Their good work in Janesville still continues, and our citizens are constantly adding endorsement by public testimony. No better proof of merit can be had than the experience of friends and neighbors. Read this case:

Mrs. Annie Kohlborn, of 230 Cherry St., Janesville, Wis., says:

"Since using Don's Kidney Pills some years ago for kidney troubles and backache, I have had no hesitation in recommending them to every sufferer I have met. I had used many other remedies and tried plasters and did everything I know of for these complaints, but the trouble grew continually worse, and was fast undermining my general health. About 7 years ago I was at a very bad condition, and it was at that time that I learned of Don's Kidney Pills and procured a box at the People's Drug Co. and began using them. Good results followed quickly and a continued treatment brought me a complete cure. I have never had any kidney trouble since I used Don's Kidney Pills. For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Don's—and take no other."

NEVADA POLICE BILL WINS.

Passes Senate and is Assured of Big Majority in House.

Carson, Nev., Jan. 25.—The Nevada police bill passed the Senate Friday without a dissenting vote and went to the assembly.

In the assembly there was a test vote on the union strength. A resolution was introduced by Mr. Vaughan, one of the union men, asking that members of the contesting factions at Goldfield be heard upon the floor of the house. After a lively debate the resolution was lost by a vote of 31 to 7. This majority is even heavier than had been relied upon by the supporters of the police measure.

A Square Deal

Is assured you when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and their formulas are attested under oath as being complete and correct. You know just what you are paying for and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests and while potent to cure are perfectly harmless even to the most delicate woman or child. Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. They are not only safe, but they are pleasant and preserving. The medicinal principles used in them viz., pure vegetable glycerine. This agent possesses intrinsic medicinal properties of its own, being a most valuable antiseptic and a purgative, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour flatulency, heartburn, foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels. It is a most valuable agent in the treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Cathartic Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchitis, throat and lung affections, except consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hangover coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption. It is the best medicine that can be taken.

ANDREW J. DETSCH FREED BY A JURY

STORY THAT HE THOUGHT FERRERIE A BURGLAR ACCEPTED.

WIFE'S NAME PROTECTED

Defendant Denied Police Claim That He Was Actuated by Her Misconduct with Man He Killed.

Philadelphia, Jan. 25.—After a trial of three days, Andrew Jackson Detsch, who was charged with murdering Harry Ferrer in a boarding house in this city last November, was acquitted late Friday afternoon.

The jury was out nearly three hours. The announcement of the verdict caused an enthusiastic demonstration in the courtroom. The killing of Ferrer was sensational and, owing to the peculiar circumstances, the case created great interest. Detsch claimed he killed Ferrer in mistake for a burglar and the jury took this view of the case.

Story of the Killing.

Detsch, who is 25 years of age, lived with his young wife and child in an uptown boarding house. On the night of November 5, policemen heard shots and traced them to the house. They forced an entrance and on the third floor hallway, in front of the door of the Detsch apartments, they found Ferrer dead with three bullets in the body. He was in his stocking feet.

Ferrer was about 50 years of age and had occupied a room on the second floor. Detsch told the policemen that he heard someone trying to get in the room and, thinking it was a burglar, shot four times through the door.

Mrs. Detsch implicated. The police were inclined to accept this explanation, but in searching the effects of Ferrer they found many letters that had passed between Ferrer and Mrs. Detsch and a number of suggestive photographs. The police then charged Detsch with having deliberately killed Ferrer. They contended that Detsch learned of alleged misconduct between his wife and Ferrer, that Detsch caused his wife to lure Ferrer to her room, and that Detsch fired the shots when he heard Ferrer place his hand on the door knob.

Detsch maintained during the trial that he did not know that the man outside the door was Ferrer and that he thought he was shooting at a burglar.

He flatly denied that at the time he suspected his wife's chastity, and refused the opportunity to plead the "unwritten law," preferring to protect his wife's reputation at the risk of his neck.
